

Waihi North Project Update: Invitations for Comment on our Application

The Waihi North Project has moved to the next phase of its approval process under the Fast-track legislation.

Invitations have now been sent to selected people or groups for comment on the Waihi North Project. Only the Expert Panel, appointed by the Environmental Protection Authority, can invite comments on the application. As the applicant, we don't have a role in determining who's asked to provide formal comment.

If you've received an invitation to comment on the Waihi North Project, and you need support, there's help available.

We've engaged an independent Friend of the Commenter who can guide you through the process. As a consultant planner, they're not part of OceanaGold and will provide free, neutral support to help you:

- Understand the Fast-track process
- Identify the parts of the Waihi North Project application that are relevant to your circumstances
- Get clarity on technical reports, if needed, to improve understanding
- Prepare a clear, relevant and effective comment.

No need to book, just drop in to the Waihi Memorial Hall Supper Room on Friday 15 August from 10am to 4pm.

Not sure if you've been invited to comment?

A list of property addresses and parties invited to comment is available on the Fast-track website www.fasttrack.govt.nz/projects/waihi-north/correspondence

Want to make a comment but didn't get an invite?

Part of the Waihi Community Forum's role is to represent the interests of residents and ratepayers in the wider Waihi area, where mining takes place. The Forum has been invited by the Panel to provide a comment and would like to include your views.

Email them at wcfinformation@gmail.com to share your thoughts.

We're here for a longer conversation, not just the formal process.

OceanaGold is committed to open, meaningful discussions and sharing views beyond the formal application process. Your thoughts matter, and we're always keen to listen.
