The Waihi North project ramps up

With approval now granted for the Waihi North Project, we're moving into the early stages of development, and with that comes a growing range of new employment opportunities across OceanaGold and our contracting partners.

Many more roles are also expected to be introduced in the coming months and years. These opportunities span from entry-level and support positions through to skilled operational, trade, and technical roles, creating multiple pathways for local community members and others interested in joining the mining sector.

We have a long-standing connection with the Waihi community. More than 22% of our current workforce attended Waihi College, and many of our staff contribute to local sports clubs, volunteer groups and community initiatives.

Developing local talent remains a key priority. We will continue delivering mining skills programmes for Year 12 and 13 students at Waihi College, supporting apprenticeship pathways through funded study, and running the Jumpstart driver licensing programme for both college students and the wider Waihi community.

These initiatives help remove employment barriers and equip locals with the skills needed to step into new roles as they arise.

The Waihi North Project represents a significant economic boost for the wider Hauraki District. In addition to creating new jobs, increased activity is expected to support local businesses, strengthen supply chains, and contribute to indirect employment across the region.

As the project advances, we look forward to welcoming more local people into the workforce and continuing our partnership with the community to ensure the benefits of growth are shared across Waihi and the wider district.
